Model Flyers took to the air

Model Pilot Tony Mineart shows Bill Heiderscheidt the airplanes. Tony started the flying at 2:00 in the afternoon. Tym Theisen and Larry Kramer had to repair the jets before they could fly so they arrived at 4:00 pm. Because of the winds at the airport the jets were not able to fly until after 5:00. The spectators got to see another good show. After 5:00 pm the wind went down and the pilots flew the models until dusk. The last plane landed around 9:00 pm

Bill Barnes from Dubuque flew his Archer to the fly in and brought two enthusiasts with him.

Another Ercoupe graced the tie down area over the weekend. Larry Messanaker of Chariton, Iowa. Larry and his friend flew to Dyersville to buy a trailer. This is the second time Larry has flown to Dyersville for business. Again, small planes bring business just like the “big ones”.

Good judgment comes from experience and experience comes from bad judgment.

Learn from the mistakes of others. You won't live long enough to make all of them yourself.
